Mothervine Pinot Noir

Australia's oldest Pinot Noir vineyard, planted in 1921 by Maurice O'Shea. The vines from this block have given the Australian Wine Industry the famed MV6 clone which is now planted throughout the greatest Pinot Noir grape growing regions in Australia. Still producing today, these vines are carefully tended and provide wines of structure and power.

Winemaking

Hand picked, destemmed through an optical sorter and a 3 day cold soak. Wild fermentation with 2 plunges daily before being pressed to less than 15% new French puncheons for 8 months. Bottled without fining.

Tasting Notes

Vibrant fresh red and black berries, spice and earth with superfine tannins, driving the palate for a long intense finish.

Drinking Window

The Mothervine Pinot is a delight as a young fresh example and as history shows, will continue to develop and become more complex in the long term.
