

2023 MCLAREN VALE NERO D'AVOLA LITTLE TRUMPET MAN

The fruit for this wine was handpicked from a mediterranean-like terroir vineyard on the coastal side of McLaren Vale. The 2023 vintage was cool to warm through the ripening season and this contributed to pronounced flavour profiles. During the wild ferment, the wine had extended maceration on skins. Post fermentation, the wine was aged in seasoned French oak barrels for 10 months.

Lifted aromas of savoury and berry fruits. On the palate is a myriad of black cherry, juicy red fruits mingled with spicy savoury flavours. It is a medium bodied style of wine finishing with elegance and fine tannins.

A versatile food wine; great as an aperitif or marries well with Mediterranean and Asian cuisine and it also pairs beautifully with music!! Cellaring of 3-5 years. 14.0% alc/vol

INTRODUCING LITTLE TRUMPET MAN: A WINE THAT HITS ALL THE RIGHT NOTES

It's time to raise a glass to a collaboration that's truly harmonious. Little Trumpet Man is a classic example of Nero d'Avola. A Sicilian varietal, straight from the Mediterranean-like terroir of McLaren Vale. And who's behind this exciting new melody? None other than Hugh Gramp and his father Tim. A father and son combo bringing together a shared passion for music, food, family, and, of course, great wine.

A Symphony of Flavours

Little Trumpet Man represents the magic that happens when generations blend their expertise. Hugh, brings his youthful energy and innovative spirit. Tim lays the foundation with over 40 years of winemaking experience. The result? An authentic, beautifully balanced Nero d'Avola. A Nero that sings with elegance, savoury notes, and fine tannins.

A Perfect Blend

Like a well-orchestrated piece of music, Little Trumpet Man hits all the right notes. Imagine juicy red fruits dancing on your palate. Balanced by the smooth caress of finely structured tannins. The finish is round and voluptuous, leaving you wanting more.

More Than Wine

The story behind Little Trumpet Man goes beyond the wine itself. It's also a celebration of both music and art. The label was designed by Hugh's partner Jessica Bawden. It is a reflection of both Hugh and Tim's musical background.
